

1. Without using screenshots of your code, explain how you have managed to build the basic layout and style of your website(KU3).Any deviations in layout and functionality from the original plan, as well as potential improvements to your final work must be discussed.

(To all Pages!)

I started my HTML pages with a (!) which automatically starts up your page.

Header:

Then I made a (Header) which I started by doing a (body) to contain the content, Created a (navbar) link so that my header has links to other pages. Then I added (hyperlinks) so that the header would know which pages it has to go to.

Footer:

For the footer all I did was the information and a (line break), which of course I made a (footer) element.

(Index page!)

I created a (div) which contained a (section) element, inside the section there are (hyperlinks) which are images, in this hyperlink you can go to the article section of a certain game, depends on the image.

I did a (sidebar) with the same hyperlinks for different images.

(Articles!)

For the article section I did (12 columns), in this columns there is a (div) that contains all (hyperlinks), which goes to there own website.

(Articles for all pages!)

Header Image:

For the header image I used a jumbotron to have an image in the top.

I made images and description in the website to show information of the article, and as an aside bar I did tall images..

2. Select two from the following list of Internet Services and discuss what changes could be applied to your website to add dynamic content to your pages. You are encouraged to create visual mock-ups that will help give context to your explanation.

Communication Services.

In my contact me page, I think Doing an email and a Facebook page is necessary, but I think a contact me page without them still is good, but it would help the process by being faster, such as a message on Facebook or an email. Having more contacts is more professional.

Information Retrieval Services.

What I wanted in my website is a category page where people can search for info they would like to see, But I didn't have enough games in my website to develop a category page. I also wanted to do links to YouTube to show trailers of the games they are reviewing, and in that part it's on me because I had time to do it, I just opted not to which is a mistake in my opinion.
